District Attorney to Move Dismissal of Early Second Degree Murder Charge to Allow Addition of Assault, First Degree.

NEW BAIL NEEDED

Schirick Considers Application for New Bail; Will Give Decision Thursday Morning.

Floyd Weeks of the town of Ulster, who has been under indictment for attempted murder, second degree, and assault, first degree, growing out of the death of his aged uncle, Henry Weeks, in November of 1935, was called into Supreme Court Monday afternoon and charged by indictment found by the last grand jury which reported Monday, with the crime of murder, second degree, alleged to have been committed on November 3, 1935; the crime of attempting to commit murder, second degree, and assault, first degree. To all of the new charges he pleaded not guilty as he had to the previous indictment.

Thomas Plunket and Chris J. Flanagan appear for Weeks.

When the new indictment charging murder was read to Weeks he pleaded not guilty and through his attorney asked the court to fix bail. In asking for bail Mr. Flanagan said that the bringing of new charges in the case had come as a surprise, since it had not been known that the case was to be re-submitted to the grand jury.

Each of the charges, he said, alleged a crime on November 3, 1935. The defendant previously had been indicted and in the prior charges the indictment had named the crimes of attempted murder, first degree, and assault, first degree.

Following arraignment under these charges the defendant had been admitted to bail. First in the sum of $10,000 and when it was found he could not raise such a sum the bail was reduced to $5,000 and provided and the defendant had been at large since then on that bail. He had never made any attempt to procure a continuance of the matter when moved for trial. The late F. W. Brooks had first appeared for Weeks but due to his physical condition the Weeks' case had been prolonged and at the death of Mr. Brooks Thomas Plunket had been retained with Mr. Flanagan of counsel.

Ready for Trial

Last November Mr. Flanagan said he had been ready for trial of the action but a material witness was absent and the case went over. In January the defense again went over for trial and the matter of selecting a jury was proceeding when Judge Traver was taken ill and the case was halted. By consent the one juror secured was discharged when a mistrial was declared by consent.

Mr. Flanagan said there was no intention of a re-submission of the case and the defendant was now in court on the old bail. In view of all of these facts he asked that the bail be fixed as a sum which the defendant would be able to provide. Mr. Flanagan asked Justice Schirick to fix bail.

No Obligation

The prosecution said that in view of the seriousness of the matter, the case had been re-submitted but there had been no obligation on the part of the prosecution to notify the defendant of such action.

"I will consider your application for bail," said Justice Schirick. He said he wanted to give the matter some thought and would make known his decision on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Flanagan asked that the defendant be allowed to go under his present bail but the court denied that application and Weeks was turned over to the sheriff.

Will Move Dismissal

Assistant District Attorney Haver said that the attempted murder charge was in county court and could not be disturbed by the supreme court. "However, the district attorney intends to move at the next session of the county court for a dismissal of the old indictments," said Mr. Haver.

Mr. Haver said that he would consider the matter of bail as soon as possible.

Background of Case

The charge against Weeks is that he put poison in a bottle of liquor which his uncle secured and drank. According to the story told at the time of the alleged crime, Weeks and his uncle were out together when a bottle of liquor was brought. They drank from the bottle and then the uncle was placed somewhere on the ground. Weeks was away from home at the time and his wife, suffering from a cold, sought the husband and apparently drank from it. Shortly after he was seized with severe pain and taken to the Kingston hospital, where it is alleged the doctor found him suffering from poison. The 71 year old man died about a week later at the hospital and at the time it was supposed his death was due to pneumonia.

The matter had been previously State Trooper Reddy and

Missing On Flight

Glen C. Moser was pilot of the transport plane which disappeared mysteriously with eight or more persons aboard it on a flight from Burbank, Cal., to New York.

There were six sealed indictments handed up by the grand jury which has been in attendance at the March trial term of supreme court, Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when the grand jury reported to Justice Schirick. Five of the sealed indictments were transferred to county court for disposition and the sixth, an indictment against Floyd Weeks, charging murder, second degree, and assault, was opened and Weeks arraigned. An account will be found elsewhere.

In addition to the sealed indictments, there were several indictments and six dismissals. With the exception of two of the indictments all were moved to county court. The indictment against Stanley Symanski and Bonnie Lewandowski, charged with entering the Bahl storage plant on East Pleasant street and stealing over $1,200 in furs, were held in supreme court until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. At that same time the Weeks case will also come before the court for fixing of bail.

Joseph Potters and Stephen Potters, charged with the crime of burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry to a building, in three indictments, both entered a plea of not guilty. The indictment charges that the two entered the Bahl storage plant on East Pleasant street and stole over $1,200 in furs, on December 12, 1936, December 24, 1936 and December 26, 1936, for the purpose of dismantling cars and selling the parts.

Stanley Symanski, 19, of 104 Third avenue, and Bonnie Lewandowski, 24, of 115 Third avenue, Kingston, were charged with the crime of burglary, third degree, alleged to have been committed on February 3, 1937, and also unlawful entry to a building. To that charge they pleaded not guilty. Under indictment No. 2244 they were also charged with grand larceny, first degree, alleged to have been committed the same day. ## Great Britain, France Ready to Align Balkans Against Italy, if Duce Quits "Hands Off" Policy

(By The Associated Press)

Great Britain and France were reported today to try to line up the Balkans against Italy if Premier Mussolini moves to quit the international "hands off Spain" agreement. That plan was transmitted to an informed Paris source as the Spanish insurgents, friendly to Italy, claimed new important successes on the northern front. Their commanders reported 2,000 government soldiers had been killed in recent fighting for Durango and Bilbao.

Although all the nations in the non-intervention accord have already agreed to stop movement of volunteers to Spain, the land and naval patrol which is making the plan fully effective has not been put into effect, and its success depends on Italy's collaboration.

The insurgent successes in northern Spain brought a "final ultimatum" from insurgent General Emilio Mola to the Basque defenders of the coastal city of Bilbao. He warned them to "surrender or suffer literal destruction of the province" (the province of Vizcaya).

Mola's men were within sight of the objective, the strategic town of Durango. Their commanders said inhabitants of that town and of Bilbao were fleeing.

Seventh Auto Death This Year Recorded At Milton, Monday

William Sturgeon, 54 years old of Milton, was the seventh automobile accident victim in Ulster county since January first. Sturgeon was instantly killed about 9 o'clock Monday evening in front of the S. B. Taber place near the South End Garage at Milton when he was struck by a truck operated by William E. Griffiths of Westfield. In the truck with Griffiths was Edwin Weeks of Cooperstown. Sturgeon was employed by William Rhoades as a farm hand on the Willow Tree Road farm not far from the scene of the accident.

An investigation made by Sergeant E. J. Hulse and Trooper Lynn Baker and by Coroner Lester DuBois of New Paltz indicated that Sturgeon had apparently walked or staggered into the side of the ton and a half truck, which was being operated north at the time. Sturgeon was walking on his left side of the two strip concrete at the time, facing oncoming traffic.

Griffiths told the officers that as his truck rounded the curve he saw Sturgeon walking along the side of the concrete in a southerly direction and as the truck approached the man he appeared to stagger to his right toward the truck. The driver said he pulled to his left and evidently the front wheels of the truck missed the man but he apparently was struck by the side of the car and the rear wheels evidently passed over his head crushing his skull. There were no other marks on his body.

As soon as the accident happened the truck was stopped and Dr. J. A. Manzella of Milton was called but it was found the injured man was beyond aid. He apparently had died instantly. Coroner DuBois was notified and went to the scene to conduct his investigation. Sergeant Hulse and Trooper Baker were also called and both interviewed the driver and the other occupant of the truck.

After the accident the body lay just off the concrete on the east of the highway and a pool of blood marked the spot where the man lay after being struck.

It was learned that Sturgeon had attended a wedding on Sunday and had not returned to work Monday at the Rhoades farm and it is presumed he was on his way back to the farm at the time of the accident.

An examination showed that the unfortunate man had suffered a compound fracture of the skull. The body was turned over to the Briscoe Undertaking Parlor of Milton and funeral arrangements will be completed later. Surviving are two brothers-in-law, John Cooney of Marlborough and Robert Cummings of Jersey City.

Craft Company Buys Peekskill Stock

A large staff of employees from the R. E. Craft Co., Inc., traveled to Peekskill Monday to take inventory of the stock of Fortune Stores, Inc., recently closed, with a view to purchasing it for the Great Bull Markets.

John W. Matthews announced this morning that negotiations had been completed with Philip A. Nyrod, attorney of Poughkeepsie, president of Fortune Stores, Inc., and John Kane, representing Moore Gates of Poughkeepsie, of W. T. Reynolds & Co., wholesale grocers of that city, who is treasurer of Fortune Stores, Inc., and that the huge stock of fine quality merchandise would be moved immediately to the warehouses of the Great Bull Markets.

Mr. Craft, of the R. E. Craft Company, Inc., when interviewed, stated that as soon as possible a special sale of this merchandise would be made as the stock was bought at a sacrifice to the owners. Mr. Craft said that the Great Bull Markets would be able to pass on the savings to the thousands of Bull Market customers.

The Fortune Stores, Inc., was a self service type of market, handling a full line of nationally known, high quality merchandise.

3,895,000 in State Benefit Under the Social Security Act

More than 3,895,000 men, women, and children in New York are benefiting directly under the Social Security Act, with seven of the act's 10 provisions now in operation in that state, according to a statement issued today by John Form, field representative of the Social Security Board in this city. Among these beneficiaries, approximately 2,729,000 are estimated to be employed in jobs covered by the state unemployment compensation law, and 82,000 are being cared for under an approved old-age assistance plan. Records show that 3,812,044 wage earners have applied for accounts under the old-age benefits program. The majority of these are also covered under the state unemployment compensation law.

Mr. Form explained that only one part of the act—the old-age benefits program which went into operation January 1—could become effective without state action. In the other nine programs the states must take the initiative. New York, it was pointed out, has set up approved plans for six of these services covering: unemployment compensation, aid to the needy aged; maternal and child-health services; services for crippled children; vocational rehabilitation; and public-health services. The programs in which it is not yet participating are: Aid to the needy blind; aid to dependent children in their own homes; and child-welfare services. The state has recently passed laws looking toward participation in these programs.

Through the old-age benefits program workers in commerce and industry are now beginning to build up credits toward regular monthly incomes which will give them something to live on after they retire.

Under the state's unemployment compensation law, enacted April 25, 1935, eligible workers who become involuntarily unemployed will be entitled to regular payments of 50 percent of their full-time weekly wages, with a maximum of $15 per week and a minimum of $5. Ordinarily, benefits may last as long as 14 weeks during a year, depending upon the worker's past employment. The state has been collecting contributions under this law since May, 1936, and unemployment compensation payments will begin January 1937.

Records of the Board show that the state has already received $4,000,000 in contributions from employers and employees. The Board stated that under the state-federal old-age assistance program approximately $2,000,000 of the state's needs are being covered by that cash allowances from funds provided in part by New York and its local subdivisions, and in part by the Federal government. It is estimated that in March New York will pay out from combined Federal, state and local funds a total of $1,744,000 for this form of assistance. In January, the average individual payment to the aged was $21.57. These estimates are based on reports to the Social Security Board since this plan went into operation.

Former New York Bar Association President Says Amendment Needed—Strange, He Says, Bill Has No "Author."

CUMMINGS UNIQUE

Wheeler - O'Mahoney Agreement Intensifies Discussion of Possible Amendment as Alternative.

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Charles C. Burlingham, former president of the New York Bar Association, denounced the Roosevelt court bill before the Senate Judiciary committee today. He called it a "shabby enterprise."

Prior to his appearance an agreement between Senators Wheeler (D., Mont.) and O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.) intensified discussion of a possible constitutional amendment as an alternative to the Roosevelt measure.

Wheeler, an objector to revamping the Supreme Court, said he would vote for O'Mahoney's amendment to require a two-thirds majority of the court to invalidate any statute.

In the House today Representative Bigelow (D., Ohio) proposed a constitutional amendment to compel retirement of Supreme Court justices at 70 or 75 years.

He suggested the amendment be ratified by constitutional conventions, delegates to which would be elected by the people. In this connection, he proposed that Congress bear the expense of the conventions to be held during the next few months.

Burlingham warned that "liberals and radicals, and labor, too, may curse the day when the Roosevelt bill was conceived."

As a supporter, an admirer and a friend of the President I cannot refrain from saying that I think he has made a great blunder and should retract his steps and proceed on the road charted for him by the Constitution—I mean by an amendment.

He suggested an amendment to fix the age for retirement of judges.

Apparently No Author

"A strange thing about this proposal," Burlingham remarked, "is the reluctance of its sponsors to acknowledge its authorship. . . ."

Attorney General Cummings, the witness said, "is almost unique."

"I do not believe that in our history," he added, "there are more than two other attorneys general . . . who would not have resigned their office rather than have any part or lot in such a shabby enterprise."

A Richard Olney, or a Moody or Gregory would have advised the President to stop, look and listen, and turn back and take the constitutional path."

Burlingham said the fundamental question was "whether the Supreme Court is to be independent or controlled."

Beyond Politics

The courts, he added, were placed by the Constitution "beyond the reach of political pressure."

Burlingham said: "It is astonishing that anyone who understands the fundamental principles and framework of our government can fail to see what a blow the President's proposal strikes at the independence of the judiciary."

Turning to the question of Supreme Court review of legislation, Burlingham denounced an "effrontery" the argument that judicial review was not contemplated by the Constitution.

"I am not one of those who imagine that the President is reaching for more power to make himself a dictator," he said. "That is absurd and unthinkable."

All Hues Not Dead

"But President Roosevelt is not the last President of the United States; there will be others."

"All the Hues Lovers are not dead, and as the political pendulum swings we may have reactionary presidents and reactionary senators who with this bill as a precedent may make a new court responsive to their will, and liberals and radicals, and labor, too, may curse the day when the Roosevelt bill was conceived."

Burlingham agreed with Senator Stephen Dillmeyer that a proposed amendment giving Congress power to override Supreme Court decisions would be more objectionable than the Roosevelt bill.

"And when you analyze the opposition to this bill, Dillmeyer declared, you find some people opposing it for a more reasonable basis than this bill is said to rest on."

Dillmeyer suggested that if Alf M. Thompson had been elected President, Herbert Hoover might have been appointed to the supreme court.

"He's not a lawyer," Burlingham replied.

Well the court's becoming a requirement place for defeated Republican candidates for President? Dillmeyer said.

No-Party Plan Seen as Snag To Unicameral

Lincoln, Neb. (AP)—Opinion remains divided on the one-house legislature, Nebraska's new experiment in government, as it nears the end of its first session.

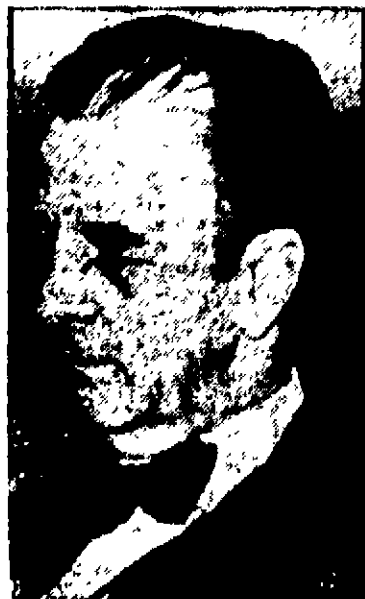

Principal criticism of the unicameral organization is its non-partisan feature.

A bitter, four weeks' dispute over Gov. Elmer A. Benson's tax bill brought the party issue to the fore. Critics contended the controversy could have been settled quickly had the governor been able to exercise the customary party ties.

Old Strategy

An ancient bit of party strategy was used, as it was, to settle the problem finally. The members gathered around a table, in secret, to caucus and compare their differences. From the caucus came a compromise bill which won the necessary support.

John N. Norton, former congressman who returned from Washington

JOHN N. NORTON
Sees Experiment Unharmful

to take his place in the new legislature says he has no fear the issue will harm the experiment.

"Differences of opinion make for good legislation," he comments. "Think what would happen in the old back passing days of the house and senate."

Good Points

The new plan is contrasted favorably to the old in these ways:

1—The unicameral session only costs about $800 a legislative day compared to approximately $1,750 for the bicameral; 62 bills have been passed in 55 legislative days compared to 33 in 55 during the 1935 session.

2—There are only 17 committees compared to 35 in one house of the bicameral. Furthermore each unicameral member serves on only one committee each day which meets in the afternoon after legislative sessions held in the morning. Under the bicameral, members served on as many as four committees meeting at the same time. Legislative sessions lasted all day and the committees sat in the afternoon or at night.

3—Under the unicameral plan time for deliberation is provided by rules which force a delay between the committee of the whole, select file and third reading. Bills could be introduced and passed the same day during bicameral sessions.

Defects

Among the minor defects which observers say have cropped up in the unicameral are:

1—Failure to give the important enrollment and review committee a definite meeting time. This has caused long delay between committee of the whole action and final passage because the committee is unable to complete the necessary work.

2—The present committee set-up has piled too much work on too few men and needs some revision.

Mendelssohn Club Concerts Interest City Music Lovers

For over 30 years the music lovers of Kingston have looked forward to the annual complimentary concert of the Mendelssohn Club, whose membership comprises some of the finest male voices in the city.

During all these years the club's concerts have proven of exceptionally fine musical value with well rounded programs that displayed the male chorus to the best advantage.

In addition to the program sung by the club they have had the assistance each year of some outstanding guest artist, and this year's concert will feature Edward Kane, the fine young southern tenor, who is making his first appearance before a Kingston audience.

This year's complimentary concert will be given in the auditorium of the Kingston High School on Friday evening, April 16. It will be the 34th of the annual events held by the club.

Mr. Kane, the guest artist, comes to Kingston highly recommended. He was one of the winners of the Atwater Kent auditions on the radio, and has since appeared in opera, radio and concert, as well as oratorio. Wherever he has appeared his singing has been highly praised. His voice is a cross between the lyric and robust, giving him a range which is always gratifying and often quite thrilling. Mr. Kane not only has a voice of exquisite beauty but his musicianship is of high quality, and as a result his singing not only pleases the music critic but the layman as well.

The Mendelssohn Club since its organization over 30 years ago has included in its membership the outstanding male singers of the city, and every member has a well trained voice. Years ago the annual concerts were given in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium on Pine Grove avenue, but since the opening of the Kingston High School the club concerts have been given in the school auditorium.

Older music lovers as they look back over the years recall with a thrill of pleasure the happy hours afforded them by the Mendelssohn Club, and the program committee in charge of this year's concert promises that the numbers to be sung this season will be as pleasing and as high a quality as those sung in the concerts of other years.

Easter week and Jewish passover have slowed up the market the past week.

Woman's Exchange Silver Jubilee

The Kingston Women's Exchange has completed its 25th year of service to the community.

The exchange was started in 1911 by a group of influential women who met at the home of the late Mrs. Howard Chipp and elected as officers, Mrs. George Chandler, president; Mrs. E. C. Cockendall, first vice president; Mrs. A. T. Clearwater, second vice president, and Mrs. Arthur King, treasurer. Mrs. Myron Teller, Mrs. John Foreyth and Mrs. G. D. B. Hainbrouck were elected as a board of managers.

The object of this organization has always been to provide a place of sale for the handwork and home-made foodstuffs of women untrained for professional or commercial jobs, thus enabling them to earn a livelihood without leaving their homes or forcing them to seek help from charitable organizations.

A visit to the Women's Exchange Shop on St. James street will prove of interest to any woman. There she will find a great variety of lovely things, delicious baked foods of all kinds, jellies, pickles, canned fruits, gifts for every occasion, beautiful hand-embroidered linens, quilts with fine stitchery and rare antiques.

As an added service orders are taken for monogramming linens, embroidery, hemstitching, quilting, special baking or a season's requirements in canned goods.

The officers for 1937 are: President, Mrs. Alva S. Staples; vice president, Mrs. C. O. Fromer; treasurer, Mrs. Harold Rakov; secretary, Mrs. Stanley Matthews; board of managers, Mrs. David Burgevin, Mrs. H. Chambers, Mrs. E. C. Chandler, Mrs. Ralph Gregory, Mrs. S. P. Grant, Mrs. C. V. Livingston, Mrs. David Terry, Mrs. C. F. Treadwell, Mrs. Mary Treadwell, Mrs. Jacob Tremper.

These women are trying to do on the police and principles have made the Women's Exchange the quarter of a century of its existence one of the outstanding philanthropies of the city.

As only 15 per cent of the sales is kept to pay the expenses the shop it cannot be self-supporting and therefore deserves and needs the help of the community.

By way of celebration of its silver jubilee as well as a means of returning the members of the exchange giving a series of spring luncheon and bridges in their homes. A day for more associate members is under way. Anyone interested in either activity should call the exchange shop or any member of the board of managers. The Women's Exchange solicits your cooperation and assistance.

Mrs. Theron B. Culver
Elected President Of
Sorosis for This Year

The last regular meeting of the 1936-1937 season of Sorosis was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Grover Lasher on Lucas avenue. Instead of the paper of study, a program of entertainment had been arranged by Mrs. Vernon Hull and Mrs. Cora Drake. In keeping with the subject of England, the study which has been followed this year, the members enjoyed several clever games which were typically English. Delightful refreshments were served from a table decorated to suggest spring and Easter. A committee headed by Mrs. Lasher acted as hostesses.

This band, under the direction of Miss Eva Clinton, is giving its services to the Junior League to help make its children's program more attractive. Those who have heard the children play know what an excellent band this is, and not only the other school children, but the parents and friends of the young musicians should be especially interested in hearing them play.

These two plays are being given on April 8 and 9 at 4 o'clock at the high school auditorium. Free tickets for the plays on April 9 will be given to the Kingston children by the principals of the Kingston grade schools or by Mrs. Allan Hansteln, 132 Clinton avenue, telephone 3364. A small charge will be made for children wishing to attend the April 8 performance of the plays. The same charge will be made for adults on both days.

To Joseph Levine

The old Colonial Subway, extending from Railroad avenue to Thomas street, has been sold by the trolley road to Joseph Levine, owner of the Kingston News Service, for the sum of $3,500, and a new one-story brick building will be erected on the site. Part of the subway it is planned to use as a cellar for the new building and the other part will be filled in. The new building will be 50 by 75 feet of brick construction, and will be used by the Kingston News Service.

The passing of the old subway will recall to the minds of older readers the days of not so long ago when Kingston had two trolley roads competing against each other. The Kingston City division of later years which used Broadway, followed the former old horse railroad and was electrified in the nineties. Later outside business interests entered the trolley field in Kingston and constructed the subway which was used for the trolley cars on the Colonial or Hasbrouck avenue division.

The two roads, however, found that there was not enough patronage to sustain two separate companies and after some years of competition the two roads were consolidated and the name of the trolley system changed to the Kingston Consolidated.

Changing business conditions and the increase in auto traffic made the trolley service inadequate and it was finally decided to discontinue trolley service and institute the present bus service.

With the replacing of the trolley cars with busses there was no further use for the old Colonial Subway which had served its purpose. Since the abandoning of the use of the subway there have been at times suggestions made during the agitation for the elimination of the Broadway crossing for the city to take over the subway and use it for auto traffic but the plan to use the subway for that purpose never met with approval.

The passing of the subway marks the elimination of another landmark of the gay nineties in Kingston when Kingston Point Park was the summer playground of Kingston residents and the young men in the summer took their girls for a spin on the open trolley cars to the park and back. Those were the days when the auto was in its infancy, and the silent movies were still a novelty.

Harvey Sammons
New Commissioner

Mayor C. J. Heiseleman this afternoon announced the appointment of Harvey C. Sammons of Brewster street, widely known restaurant man, as a member of the municipal civil service commission, to fill the vacancy caused by the recent resignation of James H. Betts.

It is expected that the civil service board will meet shortly to elect a president, the position held by Mr. Betts when he resigned. Following the organization of the board it will fix the date for holding the examination for police sergeant. Under the provisions of a local law recently adopted by the common council, the police board is given authority to appoint four police sergeants. The examination will be limited to members of the police department, and already some 20 of the police have filed applications to take the examination.

Mr. Sammons, the new commissioner, has never held public office before. He has been engaged in the restaurant business in Kingston for a number of years and is widely and favorably known. He is one of the proprietors of the S & C Restaurant on East Strand.

125,000 Workers
Idle in Nation

(By The Associated Press)

Labor troubles in automotive plants of the north and coal mines of the south kept more than 125,000 wage earners idle today.

Prospects for a quick settlement of the Chrysler Motor Corporation strike involving 60,000 workers were bright but 20,000 Alabama miners and 7,000 around Knoxville, Tenn., faced possibility of a long layoff pending approval of a new contract. At all mines of the Pittsburgh Coal Co. and Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corp. remained idle, too, pending negotiations.

Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan, in the role of peacemaker in the Chrysler dispute, declined to predict when an agreement would be reached but there were reports a pact would be signed in time to permit resumption of operations next week.

Observers felt settlement of strikes involving 10,000 Hudson Motor Car Company employees, and 2,500 Reo Motor Car Company workers hinged on the Chrysler parity.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Corp., condemned sit-down strikes in a statement issued at Phoenix, Ariz. Their seriousness, he said, lay not in themselves but "in what they will lead to."

All Troubles Ended

San Francisco, April 6 (AP).—With a home-made lethal gas chamber LeRoy Irish, 40-year-old mailman, ended his worries over debts at the cost of his own life and that of his invalid wife, police said today. Police Inspector George Engler said Irish dropped enough poison gas pellets into a vase of acid to kill everyone in the apartment house where he lived and died. Only the person with which he sealed the apartment with tape saved other occupants.

Floods Menace Part Of Alabama, 12 Die

Montgomery, Ala., April 6 (AP).—Flood water menaced southeastern Alabama today while the south counted 12 killed by week-end wind and rain storms.

Yesterday's rainfall of two to ten inches over the central southern tier of Alabama counties sent the Conecuh, Pea and Choctawhatchee rivers racing past flood stages and drove dozens of families from low lying homes.

Weather bureau observers said the inundation of hundreds of acres of farm land was feared while the rain flood was being carried through southeastern Alabama and northwestern Florida to the Gulf.

A precipitation of one half to four inches was the rule from eastern Texas to the Carolinas yesterday, while winds of near tornado force centered their attack on Alabama, killing six, injuring 29, and destroying thousands of dollars worth of buildings.

Famous Jesuit to Be Speaker Here

Sunday morning at the annual communion breakfast of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society, the guest speaker will be the Rev. Joseph Lucas, S. J., for 10 years director of missions in the Philippines.

Father Lucas is on a lecturing tour over the United States, and the Holy Name considers itself fortunate in being able to procure him for the principal address at the breakfast. His topic has not been announced, but it is presumed that he will devote his time to telling about missionary activities.

The communion breakfast will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel after the eight o'clock Mass, offered by the Rev. John J. Manning in St. Joseph's Church. Delegations will be present from the police, fire and postal departments, as well as the legal and medical groups.

E. Frank Flanagan is chairman of the breakfast committee this year, and Albert Cook heads the ticket sales group. A report on how many tickets have been sold is requested to be made at a meeting in the school hall Friday evening.

Prison Shadows Deepened

Los Angeles, April 6 (AP).—Prison shadows, which frightened Helen Wills Love into a strange week-long trance, deepened over her today. The 31-year-old "horror coma" player must serve five years to life in a women's state prison at Tehachapi, a judge ruled, because she was adjudged sane by the law.
